Where total head (TH) is referred to in conjunction with the specified discharge requirements, it shall be understood to consist of the sum of the pressure head plus the velocity head, in feet, at the discharge nozzle of the pump minus the pressure head and the velocity head at the suction nozzle of the pump. The efficiency of the pump shall be understood to be based upon total head as just defined.

2.03 PUMP CONSTRUCTION

- A. Impeller

The impeller shall be balanced non-clogging type made of close-grained cast iron conforming to ASTM A48 Class 30. The 2-vane impeller shall be of one piece, single suction, enclosed radial flow design with well-rounded leading vanes and then tapered toward the trailing edge for a circular flow pattern. The waterways through the impeller will have extremely smooth contours, devoid of sharp corners so as to prevent rags or stringy, fibrous material from catching or clogging. The clearance between the full diameter impeller outside diameter and cutwater shall be capable of passing a ~~4.0~~<sup>2</sup> sphere. The impeller is to be balanced and secured to the shaft by means of a bolt, washer, and key. The arrangement shall be such that the impeller cannot be loosened from torque in either forward or reverse rotation. Wiper vanes on the back impeller shroud are not allowed.

- B. Volute

The volute shall be matched to the impeller and made of close-grained cast iron conforming to ASTM A48 Class 30. The volute is to be of one-piece circular constant flow, equalizing pressure design with smooth fluid passages large enough to pass any size solid that can pass through the impeller.
