BUTTERFLY VALVE & ELECTRIC ACTUATOR FOR P1, HIGH SERVICE PUMP # 3

12 inch Pratt Type 2FII Flanged Butterfly Valve-JPWTP Version Class 150B Valve with Limitorque Model QX-4 Electric Actuator (with Adaption Kit installed) or Equal.

In strict accordance with the below specifications:

Valve

Butterfly Valve shall be of the tight-closing, rubber-seat type with rubber seats that are securely fastened into the valve body. (Seat on Disc design is prohibited). No metal-to-metal seating surfaces shall be permitted. Valve shall be bubble-tight at rated pressure with flow in either direction and shall be satisfactory for applications involving operations after long periods of inactivity.

Valve body shall be constructed of ASTM A126 Cast Iron. Ends shall be Flange type.

Valve disc shall be ASTM A126 Cast Iron with 316 Stainless Steel edge cover.

Valve shaft shall be turned, ground, and polished, and constructed of 18-8 304 Stainless Steel.

All seats shall be synthetic rubber compound. Seats shall be retained in the valve body by mechanical means without retaining rings, segments, screws, or hardware of any kind in the flow stream, and protected from high velocity by recess mounting in the valve body. Seats that use rectangular epoxy keys and non-metallic cartridge inserts are not acceptable. The seat and disc mating edge shall be of a design that allows up to one (1) degree off center tolerance in the closed position without leakage.

Valve shall be fitted with sleeve-type bearings. Bearings shall be corrosion resistant and self-lubricating. Bearing load shall not exceed 1/5 of the compressive strength of the bearing or shaft material.

Shaft seals shall be self-adjusting chevron type. Shaft seals shall be of a design allowing replacement without removing the valve shaft.

All surfaces of the valve shall be clean, dry, and free of grease before painting. Standard Pratt/Jeff Parish painting applies. The valve surfaces except for the disc edge, rubber seat and finished portions shall be evenly coated with a suitable primer (in compliance with Federal Specification TT-C-494B and AWWA Standard C504). Valve/Actuator packages meeting the general criteria of the subject AWWA standard but not meeting all additional requirements of this specification will not be acceptable.

Valve must be in full compliance with AWWA C504-87 Standard, Class 150B and equal in all respects to Pratt Model 2FII.

Electric Actuator

The QX-4 actuator (or equal) must operate with an input power of 460 volts a.c., 3-Phase, 60 Hz.. Actuator shall be driven by a brushless d.c. motor; brushed d.c. motors are not permitted. The motor must have as a minimum Class H insulation and a thermistor embedded within the motor windings to prevent damage due to over-load. For repair purposes, the motor shall be easily removable through the use of a plug-in connector and shaft coupling.

The actuator shall consist of a brushless d.c. motor, mechanical gear reduction, absolute position encoder with redundancy, electronic torque sensor, solid state motor controller, protection, and monitoring package, manual over-ride hand wheel, valve interface bushing, 32-character graphical liquid crystal display (LCD), and local control switches. Electronic torque and position limit functions must be capable of being monitored via dry relay contacts; in addition, both QA and SM Status Relays must be included.

Valve position shall be sensed by an absolute position encoder, employing system-on-chip technology using a contactless magnet that excites the Hall effect devices to provide redundant, 12-bit resolution over 360 degrees. Each of the position sensing circuits shall be redundant, permitting up to 50% fault tolerance before the position is incorrectly reported. A Built-in Self-Test (BIST) feature must be included to verify the proper operation of the actuator and its components. The BIST shall discern which failures signal a warning only and which require a warning plus safe shutdown of the actuator. Open and closed positions must be stored in permanent non-volatile memory. The encoder shall measure valve position at all times, including both motor and hand wheel operation, with or without power present, and without the use of a battery.

The electronic torque sensor's torque limit may be adjusted from 40 to 100% of rating in 1% increments. The motor shall be de-energized if the torque limit is exceeded. A boost function must be included to prevent torque trip during initial valve unseating.

The motor controller shall perform as the motor reverser and be solid-state with no moving mechanical parts. The control module shall also include an auto reversal delay to inhibit high current surges caused by rapid motor reversals.

A phase correction circuit must be included to correct motor rotation faults caused by incorrect site wiring. The phase correction circuit must also detect the loss of a phase. The monitor relay shall trip and a warning message shall be displayed on the LCD screen to alert the user that, although the QX-4 remains fully functional, higher current will be drawn from the remaining two power lines as long as the phase fault persists.

Discrete remote control may be configured as two, three, or four wires for open-stop-close control. Remote control functions may be powered by external 24 VDC, 125 VAC, or the actuator's internal 24 VDC supply.

The actuator must contain an integral Control/Display function to allow local operation of the subject valve and monitoring of the valve position and other operational parameters of the actuator.

Actuator/Valve operational mode shall be OPEN/CLOSE and be capable of being remotely controlled and monitored via dry relay contacts.

Circuitry contained in the actuator must allow potential later upgrade of the operational mode to MODULATING without the need to add additional electronics (i.e. printed circuit cards, etc.) to the actuator or return the actuator to the factory for such upgrade.

The actuator control panel (ACP) cover, front panel, and module for local control must use solid-state Hall-effect devices for local communication and configuration. The use of reed switches on the module is prohibited. Front panel knobs, knob stems, etc. shall not penetrate the controls cover thus insuring full electrical and environmental isolation from the actuator internal components.

The actuator shall be NON-INTRUSIVE design. Thus, all calibration/configuration shall be possible without removing any covers and without the need for any special tools. All calibration and setup shall be performed in clear text language (English). Calibration and setup shall not require the user to have knowledge of root programming techniques. A user password feature shall be included to prevent unauthorized changes (if desired/enabled by customer).

The actuator must contain Limitorque's Bluetooth setup and monitoring option; operation must be possible without the user or technician from having to remove the covers of the actuator.

All customer cable connections shall be located in a terminal chamber that is separately sealed from all other actuator components including electronic printed circuit cards. The terminal block shall include screw-type terminals, three for power input and 54 for control/monitoring.

A hand wheel and declutch lever shall be provided for manual operation. The hand wheel must not rotate during electronic operation nor can a seized motor prevent manual operation.

The actuator must contain diagnostic abilities to accumulate and report the performance of the motor, encoder, solid-state motor starter, cycle time, hand wheel operations, other functions, and firmware version. All such information shall be reported on the LCD display, along with torque profile and valve stroke data. Diagnostics must also include a Frequency Domain Analysis (FDA) feature. The FDA methodology shall capture torque, position or speed valves at regular intervals while the actuator is motoring, and calculate the resulting data set with a Fast Fourier Transform (FFT). Resulting information shall be used for repair/service activities to isolate any components which may be defective. FDA and component information will be displayed on the LCD display.

Actuator shall be equal in all respects to the Limitorque QX-4, manufactured by Flowserve Corporation, with included options denoted in this specification.

Bidder must be an authorized equipment provider and warranty service facility of the Henry Pratt Company and Flowserve Corporation.
